REBRAND KILLER 2 OF 5

The Audit Trap.

The €650,000 whoops.

Skipping the survey to save money. The penny-wise, pound-foolish story we see most often.

THE AUDIT TRAP • THE SAVING

€200,000 looked expensive.

To save it, one client refused to pay for a professional physical asset survey. An internal facilities manager did the count instead.

THE AUDIT TRAP • THE REALITY

30% error rate
across the whole estate.

Signs sized to the wrong dimensions. Corrected items shipped twice. Entire buildings missing from the initial count.

THE AUDIT TRAP • THE COST

€650k to fix

More than three times the survey it replaced.

Remanufacturing incorrectly sized signage, reshipping corrected items and adding the buildings nobody counted.

THE AUDIT TRAP • THE WAY OUT

Make the audit non-negotiable.

A professional physical asset audit, run by your execution partner, gives one source of truth for every asset's dimensions, material, location and condition. It removes guesswork and gives cost certainty for the whole deployment.

That's two traps. Three more in The Execution Gap.
